WEED OF THE MONTH
Green cestrum (Cestrum parqui)

How does this weed affect you?

- Toxic to animals and humans
- Outcompetes other vegetation.

Green cestrum contains a poison called 'carboxyparquin' that causes liver and brain damage. Bushes are still poisonous after they have been cut down or sprayed.

Human poisoning

All parts of the plant, especially the berries, are very toxic if eaten. Eating Green cestrum causes liver poisoning and can be fatal. Avoid touching the plant with bare skin.

What to do if a person is poisoned

If the patient is unconscious, unresponsive or having difficulty breathing dial 000 or get to the emergency section of a hospital immediately.

If the patient is conscious and responsive call the Poisons Information Centre on 13 11 26 or your doctor.

If going to a hospital take a piece of the plant for identification.

Livestock poisoning

Green cestrum can cause 'sudden death' in livestock. Animals that appeared healthy 24 hours before will be found dead for no clear reason. Animals that have eaten Green cestrum might die in a few hours, or be sick for a few days before they die.

Signs of poisoning (before death occurs) include:

- Severe stomach pain
- Disorientation
- Walking with a stagger
- Irritability
- Blood streaked manure
- Diarrhoea
- Weakness
- Not eating
- Lying on the ground
- A coma or convulsions, followed by death.

Cattle are most affected. Deaths have also occurred in goats, sheep, horses, pigs and poultry.

All parts of the plant are poisonous. Even though it is not very palatable animals may eat it when other feed is scarce. Recently sprayed, wilting plants are more palatable than healthy plants and can potentially cause more deaths.

Remove stock from paddocks when controlling Green cestrum. Do not return stock until the leaf material has disintegrated or been removed.

What type of environment does it grow in?

Green cestrum is often found along watercourses and in gardens. It also grows on fencelines, in woodlands, grasslands and along forest edges. It is frost tolerant and grows in a wide range of soil types and rainfall.

Please contact the Executive Assistant & Media n.hyde@tenterfield.nsw.gov.au should you require any further information relating to the Council Meeting.

REVIEW OF COUNCIL'S ROAD NETWORK MANAGEMENT PLAN

Council has placed the Road Network Management Plan (retitled Road Asset Management Plan) out on public exhibition and is inviting submissions from the community until COB on Monday, 12 October 2020.

"The Road Network Management Plan is a guide to public road management for urban and rural roads throughout the Shire," said Mayor Peter Petty.

"Council has granted an extended submission period to ensure that all road users, across the Shire, have the opportunity to consider the revised Plan and have their say. All submissions will be considered by Council for inclusion in the new Road Asset Management Plan which directs the management of all roads within the Council maintained road network."

"It is however, very important for our community to understand that Council has limited resources and the standards included in the Plan are the targeted outcomes and may not necessarily reflect the existing situation. The Plan will assist in establishing a consistent standard and serviceability for a safe road network," added Mayor Petty.

The revised Plan proposes amended rural road classifications to include a new Category E for lower order roads and amendments to the description for categories have been made to allow for this new category. Adjustments to standards and intervention responses are also being proposed.

"Submissions from our community will assist Council to establish road maintenance strategies and provide information to assist in effective lobbying of Government sources for additional road funding through reliable and accurate data," the Mayor concluded.

The draft Plan can be viewed on Council's website www.tenterfield.nsw.gov.au/your-council/council-documents/public-exhibition-documents and any submissions should be addressed in writing to Council via email council@tenterfield.nsw.gov.au or in writing to the Chief Executive, Tenterfield Shire Council, PO Box 214, Tenterfield NSW 2372.
